

tips

for every dyslexic
employer

• • •
• • • MADE BY
• • • DYSLEXIA

- 1 Dyslexics are an asset to any organisation, because research tells us they have the top 10 skills today's workplace needs.
- 2 Your workplace probably prevents them from doing their best work, due to lack of understanding – try to change it.
- 3 Take time to understand each dyslexic's strengths and challenges. Listen and respond to what they need.
- 4 Simple adjustments like use of tech, extra time to read and plan or sharing info in multisensory ways can help dyslexics fly.
- 5 Things that help dyslexics are actually good for everyone. Less text, more bullets and summaries make info clearer for all.

Find out more...

Join The Dots

Learn how to empower Dyslexic Thinkers in your workplace by reading Join The Dots on our website:

Get the definitive guide

read THIS is Dyslexia, written by our founder, Kate Griggs to find out why Dyslexic Thinking is vital in the 21st century.

Download the toolkit

Find simple steps to share you (or your team member) are Made By Dyslexia in your workplace.

THIS IS DYSLEXIA

MADE BY DYSLEXIA